

Bidder Registration Instructions

You can browse around all you like but you can't bid until you register. It doesn't cost anything to register and you're not committing to pay for anything unless you bid on an item. Even then, you won't be invoiced unless you actually win a bid.

From the auction.perconti.com information web page, click the link to go to the actual auction site – irt.auctionanything.com

1) From the auction home page, click "Register" in the upper left corner. Click the appropriate button for either US Registration or International Registration.

2) Fill in all of your registration information, including your email address – pick a password and record the password for future use. You will need to enter this password to log in and each time you bid. DO NOT give anyone your password. Finally, click the review button, then update your user profile. At that time, you will have been emailed your assigned user name.

3) After getting an email with your system assigned user name, you can log into the auction site and change the user name to something more familiar and easy to remember – record your new user name and keep it safe. You will use this user name and password to log into the auction site and bid on the items.

Remember, you can browse the items without logging in but you MUST register and log in order to bid !

Please bid often and high – it's for the kids at Rapha House!!

email sal@perconti.com if you have problems registering...
